States with a state income tax either require mandatory withholding or allow voluntary withholding. If your state requires mandatory withholding, we will withhold the mandatory amount, regardless of what you elect on the Company's administrative form. For states that allow for voluntary withholding but do not provide a default rate, if you elect state income tax withholding but do not fill in a specific amount or percentage, we will withhold 5% of the taxable portion of your distribution for state income tax purposes. For states that provide a default rate, we will withhold the default rate unless instructed by you on the Company's administrative form (e.g., withdrawal, death claim, etc.).

Should your resident state require a specific state withholding form, your state income tax withholding election on the Company's administrative form cannot be accepted (and we will withhold based on the applicable state mandatory withholding rate or the Company's default state income tax withholding rate) until the required state specific form is received at the Company's Annuity Service Center. For information regarding your resident state's specific withholding requirements and mandatory withholding percentages (if applicable), please consult with your tax professional.

Withholding Election – If you are eligible to opt out of federal or state income tax withholding, please be advised that you may be liable to pay the federal or state income tax on your distribution as deemed appropriate by the Internal Revenue Service or state taxing authority, regardless of your election. You may also be subject to tax penalties if your payments of estimated tax and withholding, if any, are not adequate. For changes to your state withholding election, you may provide updated elections on a new copy of the Company's administrative form, unless your state requires a specific state withholding form, in which case you must provide that specific form. Please consult your tax professional for further information.

Provided below are some specific state tax withholding guidelines the Company utilizes to administer financial transactions for annuities. You should consult your tax professional as to the applicability to your factual situation and if your resident state is not listed below. The information below may be subject to change, due to either state law changes or updated Company practices.

To determine if you should opt out of State Income Tax, if allowed, or if you have questions about what your state's default withholding is, you should consult your tax professional.
